PCSO's (Police Community Support Officers) are part of Neighbourhood Policing Teams.

They are highly visible and accessible in their communities. All their public facing duties are carried out in full uniform. They engage with local people and partners to identify and tackle issues that matter most to them. They problem solve, take part in preventative work and identify and safeguard the most vulnerable people in communities. They also work with young people in schools.

Did you know that in West Yorkshire we have an allocated PCSO for every single primary school?

If you don't know who your PCSO is email Sarah Whitehead, Education Liaison Officer sarah.whitehead@westyorkshire.police.uk:

Our PCSO's are engaging with primary schools all over West Yorkshire...

PCSO's Bailey & Riley visited Simpson's Lane Academy school in Knottingley, Wakefield to give a talk to their x48 reception children!

The officers did a slideshow presentation on all the different aspects of the police and what they do and showed them the different types of police equipment that are used.

This included a police riot training demonstration before then allowing each child to have a go themselves.

The youngsters were then given the opportunity to have a look at the police car and operate the blue lights and sirens.

During this time dinner lady Mrs. Simpson ended up finding herself in the wrong place at the wrong time, as she ended up in handcuffs!

Pictured here we have some of the highlights of their visit!

PCSO Hurley visited Ninelands and Strawberry Fields primary schools in Garforth, Leeds where children got to sit in the Police van turning the sirens and lights on, along with dressing up in mini police uniforms.

PCSO Hurley said, "It's always great visiting the schools and children to educate them that we are here to help. I hear lots of fantastic stories from the children and I think we definitely have some future cops amongst them!"
